

Meta Community Guidelines

Welcome to the official ETX-636 clinical trial social media pages on Facebook and Instagram. These pages are intended to provide educational information about the ETX-636 clinical trial and help patients, caregivers, advocacy groups, and healthcare professionals learn more about participation opportunities and study-related updates.

Our social media presence is an important way for us to communicate transparently and responsibly with the community, and comments and interactions within the Facebook and Instagram pages are monitored to help maintain a respectful, compliant, and informative environment.

By engaging with our Facebook and Instagram pages, you agree to the following Community Guidelines. These guidelines may be updated periodically, and we encourage you to review them from time to time.

Please note that due to healthcare and clinical trial regulations, we cannot provide medical advice or discuss individual treatment decisions through social media. Information shared on these pages is for informational purposes only and should not replace discussions with your doctor or healthcare team. If you have questions about your health, treatment options, or eligibility for a clinical trial, please consult a qualified healthcare professional.

1. We consider the following content (below) unacceptable and reserve the right to delete content or block users who violate these terms:
 - Content that is misleading, fraudulent, or deceptive
 - Content containing language that is obscene, offensive, abusive, defamatory, discriminatory, threatening, or disruptive to the community
 - Spam, repetitive comments, or promotional content unrelated to the ETX-636 clinical trial
 - Posts promoting products, services, fundraising efforts, or external organizations not affiliated with the study
 - Posts containing medical advice, treatment recommendations, or claims regarding medications or investigational therapies
 - Content discussing adverse events or personal medical emergencies requiring immediate attention
 - If you believe you are experiencing a medical emergency, contact your healthcare provider or emergency services immediately
 - Posts containing personal, confidential, proprietary, or sensitive information, including personal health information, patient-identifying information, medical records, and insurance information
 - Posts containing links to external websites, videos, or third-party materials not owned or approved by the ETX-636 study team
 - Content unrelated to the purpose of the page, including political or inflammatory discussions
 - Posts that violate Facebook's User Agreement and Instagram's User Agreement